

THE WEATHER

PROBABLY FAIR TONIGHT AND SATURDAY

TONOPAH DAILY BONANZA

METAL QUOTATIONS

SILVER	78 5/8
Copper	$1.32
Lead	10 1/2
Quicksilver	$1.10

VOL. XVII No. 30

TONOPAH, NEVADA, FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 20, 1917

PRICE 10 CENTS

PAUL WHALEY CALLED

DRAFT LOTTERY CATCHES TONOPAH MAN ON FIRST SLIP

Drawing Will Continue Until the Last Name is Reached Late Tonight

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, July 20. — The great lottery to fix the order of liability for military service of each of the ten million men of the United States registered for the war began at 9:45 o'clock this morning. By some time tonight every man will know whether he is among the first 1,370,000 called before the local exemption boards. From them the boards will select 678,000 for America's first draft army of the half million to fill vacancies in the guard and regular army.

In a committee room of the senate office building, with representatives of the press present, war department officials, members of the senate and house military committee began the drawing of 10,500 slips bearing the numbers corresponding with the serial numbers of each registrant in the largest district in the country.

Secretary Baker was first to withdraw a capsule enclosed slip from the great glass bowl. Blindfolded he drew 258. Chairman Chamberlain, of the senate military committee, drew the second number 2,523. Chairman Dent of the house military committee drew the third, 9,613.

Senators Warren and representative Kahn, ranking minority members of the senate and house military committees drew the next two, which were 4,532 and 19,218. After this the drafting was done by appointed tellers blindfolded who took a number from the bowl as fast as announced and the tally clerks could keep pace.

Unofficially it is estimated approximately a million men were represented in the first thousand numbers which had been drawn at 11:30 o'clock or a little over an hour and a half after the drawing began. It may be late tonight before the drawing is finished as the early rate of sixty slips a minute is not likely to be maintained.

Four hours after the drafting started about 2400 numbers has been drawn and the tellers began slowing down. It is estimated the last number might not be drawn before three o'clock tomorrow morning.

The first of the 687,000 men actually called into service are those on top of the liability list who probably will fill the ranks of the regulars to war strength. About 40,000 of these may be called before September. The largest number next in order probably will be assigned to fill the National Guard. Half a million will be assembled as a national army. If more are needed these will provide the net quota. Those next in order will be summoned. This will continue throughout the entire list. Military men estimate that about every other man summoned will be exempted. This should furnish close to 5,000,000 men before the roll is exhausted.

RUSSIANS HELD BY THE REBELS

HUNDREDS OF ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS DETAINED AS HOSTAGES

(By Associated Press.) SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Imprisonment at servile labor was forced on two hundred Russian naval officers and families held in the naval fortress of Kronstadt, near Petrograd, by revolutionists defying the provisional government, according to three naval lieutenants who arrived here. They say officers being held as a threat over the established government.

Tried to Kill the Minister of War

(By Associated Press.) PETROGRAD, July 20.—An attempt to assassinate war minister Kerensky was made today at the town of Polotsk. The bullet missed.

TONOPAH LEADS RED CROSS LIST

RETURNS TO THE LOCAL RED CROSS TREASURER SHOW UP HANDSOMELY

The reports from Washington about funds raised for Red Cross subscriptions do not do justice to Tonopah. The latest report states that Nevada altogether contributed $22,709 of which Carson City is credited with $2000. Elko with $10,482.90, Goldfield $4000 and Reno $6226.67. Nothing is said about Tonopah which has raised a total of $14,925.10, or a greater amount than any other city or town in the state. The funds have been deposited in bank and held subject to receipt of the big subscriptions from the several mining companies which will come in the regular order of business with other disbursements. Many of the local subscriptions also represent the pledges of the less wealthy class pledging the persons signing to pay at the rate of from ten cents to five dollars a month during the period of the war.

(By Associated Press.) JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 20.—Geo. C. Tompkins murdered his business associates, Edward L. Humphries, Philadelphia, Mrs. Humphries, and their son, Edmund L. Jr.

(By Associated Press.) DENVER, COLO., July 20.—Federal mediators say they are powerless to prevent the strike at Leadville.

of the series. Barry scored in the first inning on Gainer's home run and Gardner scored the winning run in the sixth inning. Ruth was hit hard but managed to pitch his best ball in the pinches. His support also saved him on several occasions.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

(By Associated Press.) BOSTON, July 20.—Cooper held Boston to four hits today, enabling Pittsburgh to win 6 to 1 and to split even in the six game series.

FIRST CONSCRIPT FROM NYE CO.

John Paul Whaley, registrant No. 285, according to his card, is 27 years of age, married and the sole support of his wife on which account he claimed exemption at the time of registration. He was born in Clinton, Tenn., and declared he had no military training.

It is believed that the first choice from Nye county will be debarred from service through chronic appendicitis for which Dr. Master-son, the examining physician of the exemption board has treated him for years.

Whaley is employed by the Manhattan Con. mining company.

The following local numbers were reported later in the day: 10, Steve Varnish; 15, A. Pezak; 18, A. Dross; 46, John Ross; 15, Pete Desai; 75, E. G. North; 117, John W. Ever-shaw; 140, Robert Jones; 182, Steve Krilovich; 194, Steve Kremik; 223, Milo Marasovich; 284, Forrest Lovelock; 309, A. E. Rees; 322, August Fehr; 343, Carl Clark; 355, Roy Hannahan; 373, J. Nishaneu; 375, J. Garva; 31, Steve Marvirovich; 218, Steve Kentran; 183, T. Musseta; 56, M. Lambertucci; 5, John Skof; 350, Roy Weiner; 54, F. Kallin; 51, F. D. Garkovich; 30, O. Stone; 198, Tony Salak; 363, Fred Steen; 6, Nick Rodonovich; 327, A. Del Pappa; 93, Roy Crump; 345, V. Vahmakens; 103, A. J. Snyder; 154, W. E. Powers; 25, T. Malkovich; 221, K. Kulrads; 121, E. J. Ramsay; 353, Steve Cummings; 54, F. Kallier; 369, A. Loukkula; 141, Pete Fumich; 335, G. Vlasgevac.

MAY BUY LAND FOR BELGIANS

MAY BRING THE LANDLESS PEOPLE TO THE FERTILE NORTHWEST

(By Associated Press.) SALT LAKE CITY, July 20.—It is reported that representatives of the Belgian government in search of land for colonization are investigating Utah and the northwest. Details are not available.

(By Associated Press.) PARIS, July 20.—Furious German assaults on the Aisne, everywhere were checked.

FOR AN HONORABLE PEACE

Majority Resolution of the Reichstag Carried By Vote of 214 to 116

(By Associated Press.) COPENHAGEN, July 20. — The Reichstag yesterday adopted the majority peace resolution by a vote of 214 to 116, seventeen not voting. Chancellor Michaelis, in his address, said Germany would not continue the war a day longer if it could obtain an honorable peace. American intervention is not seriously regarded. The German fleet, particularly the submarines would master the situation, he said.

The chancellor said, "Bitter criticism has been directed against a highly deserving man. When the history of the war is open before us all shall completely appreciate what Dr. Von Bethman Hollweg's chancellorship meant for the enemy. Appointed chancellor by the emperor, I have the honor for the first time to communicate with your high house. A great weight has been laid on my shoulders in the most grave time. Trusting in God and to German might, I ventured to undertake it. I beg your trusty cooperation in this splendidly maintained spirit in this body during the war.

Death Valley Scotty is an al fresco farmer. This means that he is enjoying a life of ease at the expense of an angel from Chicago who is said to be putting up for his services at the princely rate of $250 a month with everything furnished and nothing to do. This discovery was made by W. A. Ray, the Nye county surveyor, who was down in the vicinity of the Lost Burro mine the other day and ran across the Death Valley optimist in Grapevine Canyon. Scotty was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat that he disported when he visited Goldfield in the hottest day of the summer of 1908. Scotty told the Tonopah engineer that he was drawing down $250 a month as caretaker of a colony of tent houses built by a Chicago mil-

lity was there larger than life enjoying the tropical temperature of 125 in the shade and having plenty of shade at that. He was attired in his customary blue flannel shirt and black trousers but did not wear the black overcoat